

WIFE BEATING IS UPHOLD BY COURT

Unwritten Law Recognized by Judge Morse in Dismissing Mrs. Watson's Complaint.

The unwritten law was recognized by Judge Charles W. Morse of the district court yesterday when he rendered a decision in the divorce suit brought by W. J. Watson against Mary Corser Watson, in which he dismissed both the husband's complaint and the wife's cross complaint and gave no relief to either party. Watson charged his wife with infidelity and she charged him with cruelty, and it was in relation to this charge that Judge Morse brought in the unwritten law. The cruelty consisted of a beating which Watson gave his wife after returning home unexpectedly to find that another man had been visiting his home.

"At the time of this occurrence," said Judge Morse, "Mr. Watson was undoubtedly agitated and excited by the natural suspicion which had been aroused by his wife's conduct and by information concerning it which he had received from his brother, Frank Watson. I do not think that under these circumstances he should be severely blamed for his actions toward this defendant, as he probably did not go further than a reasonable and cautious man would have gone under the circumstances."

Frank Watson was the principal witness for his brother and played the part of a detective, alleging that he saw Mrs. Watson and one Samuel Jerrid at her home while her husband was away. Judge Morse said that he did not place much reliance on this testimony, as it was full of inconsistencies and improbabilities. The case has been on trial for three days and the result probably means that another action will be instituted on different grounds by either husband or wife.

COLLECTION OF GARBAGE

Public Asked to Co-operate With Health Board in Cleaning Up City.

In calling attention of the public to the new system of collecting garbage by which the drivers are paid for the number of pounds they collect instead of by the day, as previously, the city health department yesterday issued the following statement to the public:

"The city board of health has adopted a new system for the collection of garbage, and is anxious for public co-operation in cleaning up the city and keeping it clean."

"Garbage men now have an incentive for more frequent collections and residents are urged to see their collectors and arrange for more efficient service."

"The city ordinance provides that all garbage must be placed in proper receptacles, otherwise it will be left where it is, and must be removed at the expense of the tenant. Persons failing to follow the above provisions are violating city ordinances and will be duly prosecuted."

"As the typhoid season approaches, the board of health respectfully asks the citizens of Salt Lake to boil all drinking water, remove all manure frequently, use plenty of lime in open toilets and in general keep the city cleaned of all fly breeding and germ breeding rubbish."

TO BUILD TWELVE HOUSES

Butte Men Will Camp in Shack on Their Property in Oakley Addition.

W. L. Matheson and W. B. Wade, who came to Salt Lake from Butte, Mont., last Monday night, will today commence work upon the twelve houses they are to build at Tenth West and Fifth North streets. This quick commencement of building operations after their arrival here will be possible because Messrs. Matheson and Wade ordered building material and made other arrangements when they were in Salt Lake two weeks ago.

They are both building contractors. It is their intention to erect seven houses in Fifth North street and five houses in Tenth West street, Oakley addition. These houses will range in price from $2,500 to $3,000.

Their first work today will be the erection of a small temporary building upon their property in which they will live while hurrying the completion of the first of the houses for the accommodation of their families.

"We are going to live in a shack right on the ground," said Mr. Matheson, yesterday, "because we don't want to come down town and waste any time until the houses are built."

"We have moved to Salt Lake because we believe the city has a great future. We want to take a hand in building the big city of the future."

CLEAR THE COMPLEXION OVERNIGHT.

Pimples, Rash, Eruptions, Etc., Quickly Eradicated by New Skin Remedies.

Since its discovery one year ago, poslam, the new skin remedy, has, in its extraordinary accomplishments, exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the eminent specialist who gave it to the world. It has cured thousands of cases of eczema and eradicated facial and other disfigurements of years' standing. The terrible itching and burning eczema is stopped with the first application, giving proof of its curative properties at the very outset.

In less serious skin affections, such as pimples, rash, herpes, blackheads, acne, barber's itch, etc., results show after an overnight application, only a small quantity being required to effect a cure. A muddy or sallow complexion is noticeably improved by a single application. Those who use poslam for these minor skin troubles can now avail themselves of the special 50-cent package, recently adopted to meet such needs. Both the 50-cent package and the regular $2 jar may now be obtained in Salt Lake City at the F. J. Hill Drug Co., and other leading drug stores.

Samples for experimental purposes may be had free of charge by writing direct to the Emergency Laboratories, 52 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

HENRY SWONSON IS DEAD

Son Hears News in Ogden en Route From Pocatello to Evanston.

Henry Swanson, a retired clothing merchant of Chicago, who spent several years in Salt Lake in his search for health, died last Sunday at Santa Cruz, Cal., of heart trouble. The funeral took place yesterday. While in Salt Lake, Mr. Swanson lived at 1067 First avenue. He went to California about seven months ago with his wife and two daughters, Miss Ella W. Swanson and Miss Grace E. Swanson. His son, William Russell Swanson, who represented the National Clothing company of Chicago here, remained in Salt Lake. Mr. Swanson was 66 years old.

At the time of his death on Sunday, his son was in Pocatello, Idaho, on a business trip. An effort was made to reach him by wire, but this was not successful until yesterday afternoon, when the son reached Ogden, on his way to Evanston, Wyo. The telegram announcing his father's death was handed to young Mr. Swanson while he was waiting at an Ogden hotel for the time of the departure of the train to Evanston. He at once came to Salt Lake and will probably start for California today.

SAYS SHE WAS DECEIVED

Aged Anna Grumco Asserts She Signed Deed Believing It Was Her Will.

Alleging that she was flim-flammed by her son-in-law, who took advantage of her old age and induced her to sign a deed to some land on the assertion that it was her will, Ann Maria Jensen Grumco has brought suit to have the deed set aside.

The defendant are Ruth Welner, Gleney Welner and Helena Welner, to whom the property was deeded. The complaint states that on November 2, 1907, Mrs. Grumco consulted her son-in-law, August Welner, and stated to him that she desired to make her will, leaving her property to the defendants in this action. Welner prepared the supposed will for her and she signed it. Being old and infirm and unable to read the English language, she says she did not understand that she signed a deed instead of a will, and did not discover the fact that she had deeded away her land until July 1 last.

In the second cause of action, Mrs. Grumco asserts that she had a similar experience on the same date, and instead of signing her will signed a deed to another piece of property to the defendants. The property lies south of Murray.

Food Fads are Soon Forgotten

But Mapl-Flake remains, year after year, the preferred and the staple food.

For wheat is the food of the ages, and this is its perfect form—flavored with pure maple syrup.

The best time to try food fads is not in hot weather.

In summer, a whole wheat, properly prepared, should form at least one meal a day.

Wheat produces the maximum of nourishment and the minimum of heat. It should largely take the place of meat.

Fad foods cannot do that. These, of all times, are the days for the practical.

You cannot cook wheat as we cook it. Nobody can.

We steam-cook it for six hours, then cure it for days.

Then we flake each berry to the thinness of paper, and toast it at 400 degrees.

That long process, and that fierce heat, separates the particles so the digestive juices can get to them.

You get twice the food value from Mapl-Flake that you get from common flaked foods.

Then no part of the food is left to ferment—to irritate the stomach lining.

Other methods are cheaper. We could make a flaked food in one-fourth of the time. But would you not rather have a food right—have it all digest?

Mapl-Flake

The Food That's All Food

We cook our wheat in pure maple syrup, mainly for the children's sake.

You know how they like maple sugar. That's why they like Mapl-Flake.

They are delighted to eat it, as they should in summer, in place of heavier food.

Let them have it tomorrow. If the food is half as good as we say, it is better than other foods.

One package will tell you. You'll be sorry you waited so long.

James Monroe
5th President of the United States

IT was in the Hall of Oratory, William and Mary College, 1776. Patrick Henry stood on the platform; eloquently, passionately, convincingly he spoke of human rights, constitutional guarantees, Personal Liberty.

A young student, tall and blonde, with eyes of blue and heart of fire, listened intently. Tossing aside cap and gown, he buckled on his sword, saying, "Words are good; deeds are better."

At Harlem, White Plains and Brandywine, he fought bravely; and on a bitter cold Christmas morning his blood splashed the frozen paving stones of old Trenton Town.

Step by step he rose to power; and today his name is inseparably associated with the most significant international Doctrine of modern times.

At three score and fourteen he died—a true Virginia gentleman—the descendant of an old family of Scottish Cavaliers—and at his hospitable home at Oak Hill, good ale was brewed and ever on his board.
